Great game with a great story! Very easy to learn game controls. Had lots of fun discovering the hidden objects. Can be difficult at times to solve puzzles but they have allowed for assists should you decide to use them. Worked fine on a Mac Pro running 10.12.6 with AMD Radeon RX460 4GB video card.. Totally loved this game. I would love to see more happen in these series. I thoroughly enjoyed this HOG.

Art direction is really good - pretty much every scene is wonderfully illustrated with bright colourful artwork. Each puzzle is fairly unique, and some require some thought to solve. Thankfully, if you do get stuck, there is a Skip function, along with hints. What I enjoyed most was the feeling you get when using every item along the way to progress; each time, there is a nice click in your brain.

The story is pretty good, general fantasy kind of lore, with portals, ancient gods etc. There are some decent cutscenes, but the voice acting is amusingly bad!

Very nice casual game to while away a few hours on a Sunday. The addition of achievements, a bonus chapter, and the option to replay the puzzles & minigames result in a really solid HOG.. The Lost Lands games are pretty fun. There are two features of FIVE-BN games that I haven't seen much and really appreciate. First, once you unlock a particular puzzle in the story mode, you can replay that puzzle over and over through the main menu (this is how you get achievements for doing something in a short time, or in few moves). The other feature, in their later titles at least, is that once you find all the collectibles, you unlock 20 levels of a bonus game that you play through the main menu.

The story of each of these is pretty generic fantasy stuff, but I always have a good time playing them. Also, their style of HO scenes is interesting -- it's all done by silhouette, and everything works off of each other. For example, first you find the can opener, then you use it to open the can and now you have olives, etc. It was a nice change up from Artifex Mundi style, which is the HOG publisher I've played the most games from. I like both Artifex and Five-BN, and it's nice to jump back and forth for some variety.. I really liked this game and the storyline was good for a point and click game.

Fourth in the series, you are called back to the Lost Lands by the Wanderer, a ship captain cursed to wander the many worlds in a spiritual state, and to bring catastrophe to any world he visits. Possibly including their total annihilation. Better get to work breaking the curse.

The plot is engaging, the HO scenes fun, and the minigames challenging. Get in the bundle..
